

Japan's Contribution to the Post-2020 Global Biodiversity Framework

Passing the baton : the UNDB-J experiences

Biodiversity supports our daily lives. The latter half of the UN Biodiversity Conference, COP-15 in April and May 2022, to determine the global goals that define a biodiversity positive society. Global leaders and scientists suggest a whole-of-society approach is necessary to achieve the global biodiversity goals. Therefore, the event will focus on Japan's experiences on leading the UN Decade on Biodiversity and mainstreaming, as well as the ambitious and realistic global goals in the post-2020 global biodiversity framework.
